

Respiratory Syncytial Virus (RSV) Vaccination Coverage by Population (2023-2024)

Receipt of 1 dose of RSV vaccine during 2023-2024. RSV vaccination is recommended for all adults age 75 years and older, adults age 60-74 years who have certain risk factors, and pregnant women to protect their infants.

Source: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)*

*Percentages have been rounded

Vaccination is the best way to help protect against RSV and serious related complications

Learn more: www.nfid.org/rsv

